Woman Braves Mutiny and Tempests On Yacht Cruise Around The World

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The next time her husband takes his yacht, "Speejacks" on a round-the-world tour Mrs. A. Y. Gowan, Cleveland, will ask the Fiji Islands be left out.

"The people are warm-hearted, but their ideas of hospitality are not attuned to American customs," Mrs. Gowan said, on arrival here of the 98-foot craft at the end of its 35,000-mile voyage. "The first night we spent ashore as I was about to retire in a thatched tree-pee I heard the village crier announce the white woman is about to undress," and the whole town turned out to see me.

"It was the highest honor they could have paid me, but I was ungrateful, for I blew out the light and jumped into bed with my clothes."

Her Adventures.

Mrs. Gowan shared all the adventures, hardships and pleasures of the 18-month voyage with her husband, cement magnate of Cleveland and Chicago. She—

STOOD watch at the wheel while a mutinous crew threatened to desert.

HELPED pilot the ship through a South Seas hurricane 2000 miles from land.

HOBNOBBED with former head-hunters in the Solomon Islands.

MADE friends with a black island chief who turned out to be an Oxford graduate.

Lost Four Times.

The Speejacks was four times reported lost.

Following the tour of the South Seas with land excursions on the Caroline, Marshall, Society, Fiji and Solomon groups, the great cities of Australia were visited and pilgrimages made to the magic cities of ancient Java.

Singapore and its colorful markets, its Chinese and its dazzling jewels, came next with a trip across the Indian ocean to Colombo and ports of India.

Then a scorching voyage through the Red Sea, touching at Aden, Arabia, and through the Suez to Egypt.

At Athens the party landed the day King Constantine quit, then proceeded to Naples for a motor tour of Italy. France was skirted, Gibraltar visited and then the Speejacks passed the Pillars of Hercules for the homeward trip.

MRS. A. Y. GOWAN.

TO DEDICATE NEW HARLAN CHURCH

Christian Congregation Plans Elaborate Dedicatory Services Sunday For Building.

HARLAN, Dec. 14.—The dedication of the new Christian Church of Harlan will take place Sunday, December 17. The Rev. George L. Snively of Lewiston, Ill., who is known as one of the greatest dedicators in the world, will conduct the services. All other churches of the city will suspend their morning services in honor of this dedication and join in the ceremony.

The new church is a beautiful building of tapestry brick, touching on colonial lines, and is being equipped with a pipe organ costing between $6000 and $7000. A musician sent by the Skinner Company of Boston, the firm installing the organ, will play for the dedication, and a fine musical program is being arranged. A quartet from the Presbyterian church composed of Rev. Carl Michel, the pastor, C. R. Shannon, A. C. Jones and W. D. Jones, will sing, along with other of Harlan's best musicians.

The campaign for the new church was launched about two years ago under the leadership of the Rev. William Burleigh, a well-known church builder and the present pastor. Mr. Burleigh has extended an urgent invitation to the many friends of him and the church in Middlesboro and Bell county to come to Harlan for the dedication services.

MIDDLESBORO HIGH ACCREDITED SCHOOL

Superintendent Bradner Notified By Letter This Morning of Recognition of M. H. S.

Middlesboro High School has been placed in the accredited list of high schools by the Southern Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools according to information received by Supt. J. W. Bradner this morning. This is the first time that Middlesboro has ever been on the accredited list and this recognition of the superior organization which is being effected in the school system here is a matter of great pride for all of Middlesboro. In the future no entrance examinations will be required to enter colleges or universities affiliated with this organization, from Middlesboro High School. The letter which Superintendent Bradner received, follows:

Supt. J. W. Bradner, Middlesboro, Kentucky.

My dear Mr. Bradner:

Upon the recommendation of the State Committee on Accredited Schools your high school was unanimously endorsed for accredited relationship to the Southern Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools at its regular session, New Orleans, Louisiana, December 5-8. This action of the Association entitles graduates of your school to enter any college of the south without examination, and, in special arrangement with the North Central Association, they may enter any college affiliated with that organization, also without examination. I congratulate you and your faculty upon this evidence of progress in your high school. Sincerely Yours, McHenry Rhoades, Chairman Committee on Accredited Schools for Kentucky.

FUNERAL OF JESS BULL TOMORROW

Hearing For Barnett, Held in Connection With Killing, Soon—Officers Believe Him Innocent.

The funeral of Jess Bull, the miner, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Binghamtown Church. The body will be at the home of Mrs. Sallie Bird, mother-in-law of the deceased, until the hour of the funeral. Dr. Sam P. Martin of the First Baptist Church will officiate. At the request of Mrs. Bull, T. Russ Hill will assist in the service. Mr. Hill was a favorite religious speaker of the late Jess Bull. A sister is expected to arrive from Knoxville tonight.

That Jess Bull came to his death as the result of a gun-shot wound at the hands of an unknown party was the verdict of the coroner's jury which met yesterday. Charles G. Smith was the acting coroner. Members of the jury were: M. E. Brown, Robert Eustice, Ed Patterson, Joe Stewart, W. B. Fugate and J. D. Greer.

Preliminary hearing of Thomas Barnett, held in connection with the death of Jess Bull, will take place within a day or two, the exact date not having been determined, according to H. E. Ball, chief of police. The trial will be before County Judge Bingham.

It is understood that the prisoner will produce witnesses who will aid him in establishing an alibi. It is the opinion of the police that the young man is not guilty of the crime and that he will be acquitted at the preliminary hearing.

Officers have been rather reticent as to whether or not they are working on other clues to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Bull, but it is not unlikely that something further will develop in the case within a few days.

EXTENSIVE DECORATION FOR CHRISTMAS BY LOCAL STORES

Seized by the all-prevailing spirit of the Yuletide season, local business have begun extensive decoration work at their establishments. Stores, restaurants and other business places are lavishing in their use of varicolored crepe streamers, artistic cedar and holly trimmings and other touches which add a decidedly "Christmas" tone.

With little more than a week remaining for Christmas shopping, sale of holiday goods is daily increasing. All the stores now have their holiday stocks on display at their counters and in their windows. Needless to say those articles which by their appearance are best fitted to lure the elusive coin from "his" pockets are not by any means in the back-ground of the window displays.

RETAIL MERCHANTS PLAN BIG LUNCHEON DECEMBER 27

Plans for work for the coming year will be discussed at the luncheon at the meeting of the Merchants' association which will be held at the Hotel Cumberland at noon on Wednesday, December 27. This meeting was called upon when members of the association met at the Manning theater at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Eight members were present at the meeting. No regular business was transacted, though affairs of the organization were informally discussed. The present plans are to make the association bigger and better next year.

OPEN WAR LURKS IN FINAL SESSION OF THIS CONGRESS

Progressives, Standpat Republicans and Democrats Reconnoiter for Contest to Prove Which is Strongest Force.

MANY PROPOSED REFORMS TO BE ACTED UPON

By Harry Hunt

Washington, Dec. 14.—Open war, not just skirmishing—guerrilla raids and ambushes—snipping in the dark. Local war, against forces with definitely established objectives, a carefully organized plan of campaign and artillery, ammunition and fighting reserves sufficient to sustain a prolonged and stubborn contest.

That is the situation administration forces face at the opening of the final session of the Sixty-seventh congress. Charged primarily with enactment of the ship subsidy bill, in addition to enactment of routine appropriation bills, ship subsidy lost the spotlight within two days after the session opened.

This was due to an aggressive counter-offensive, led by anti-administration Republicans, demanding reforms in the manner of electing presidents. In the time of convening newly elected congresses and in other matters designed to gear the performance of government more closely to the people's demands.

Most important of these proposals is that which would wipe out the election college and permit direct voting for the candidates for president, following their selection in popular presidential primaries.

To Change Congress Sessions.

Second only to this is the proposition that a Congress elected in November should take office the following January instead of 13 months later, in December of the following year as the constitution provides.

The immediate reason behind the present drive for changing the constitutional date for convening Congress is the situation in which members elected or re-elected to the new congress on specific pledges to fight for immediate relief of certain conditions, particularly agricultural relief, find themselves.

Although elected Nov. 7, 1922, they will not take their office in Congress until December 3, 1923, unless called into special session by the president. That will be too late to redeem any pledges that they gave their constituents for quick relief.

But with two sessions of Congress following election before they take the seats—sessions of the old congress in which the administration majority is overwhelmingly so—it is possible for re-elected lame duck members, with the eye for patronage plums within the president's gift, to put through measures which the voters directly opposed in electing the new congress.

Administration Opposes Changes.

That the administration will bend every effort to block the proposed reform is assured by the immediate defiance of President Harding, voiced at the White House.

The president let it be known that he believed one of the greatest inspirations of the founding fathers was the provision in the constitution providing for a year's delay before the convening of new congress.

This, he said, provides a cooling-off period, after the heat of campaigns, which he thinks most desirable. Nothing that he can say or do he intimated, would be left unsaid or undone to prevent adoption of the amendment.

A two-fold objective, however, is hidden in the counter-offensive of administration forces. By forcing the fighting on these proposals, and thus diverting administration concentration on the subsidy and other problems, the progressives can also grab the initiative in the battle over the direct primary.

Progressives Are Problem.

In the face of an organizing movement, supported by administration chiefs, for the abolition of primaries and the return to machine nominations in party conventions, the progressive group, instead of being con-

WITNESS SAYS HARDMAN TOLD OF RENAKER MURDER

Dead Man Killed With Black Jack While Reese Fox Stood Outside, Life Prisoner Says Defendant Told Him.

STATE TO FINISH WITH ITS TESTIMONIES TODAY

WINCHESTER, Dec. 14.—More than ten witnesses will be examined in the trial of Scobee Hardman, charged with the murder of Leon Renaker, before the State closes its case today. Attorneys for the defense said that probably Hardman would be placed on the stand before night, depending upon how long it takes the States to finish its evidence. The first witnesses for the State today, John Bentley, Jesse Schumaker, Ben Martin and George Warner, testified about alleged attempts of Hardman to escape from jail several weeks ago by means of duplicate keys to the jail doors. One was made from a piece of steel, two others from case knives. The court room attendants are still talking about the testimony of John Schumaker, in jail under life sentence for killing his father. He said Hardman told him Renaker was killed with a black jack and the instrument was thrown into the Kentucky River. He said Reese Fox stood outside the Renaker home when Renaker was slain.

HARDING PRAISES FARM COOPERATIVES

Senator Ernst Reads Letter at Opening Session National Council Marketing Associations.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—President Harding in a letter read today at the opening session of the National Council of Farmers' Cooperative Marketing Associations declared he knew "no single moment that promises more help toward the present relief and permanent betterment of agricultural conditions," than the cooperative organizations of farmers to market their products. The letter was read by Senator Ernst of Kentucky as a greeting to the council.

KENTUCKIAN MISSING 34 YEARS APPEARS IN KANSAS CITY

By Associated Press.

WYDSATILES, Dec. 14.—Ben Hinder, son of the late D. Porter Hinder, prominent in Woodford county, who disappeared 34 years ago, has appeared at the home of his sister, Mrs. Wilbur Thornton, in Kansas City, according to a message from that place. No details were given.

(er) to defend the primary as it now exists, moves to extend it even to the election of candidates for president. The anti primary forces, therefore, instead of being free to make their chief point on the primary as it is today, must first spend their energies and time in blocking its further extensions.

Such are the outstanding factors in the political battle front as the new session of congress gets under way. It's war. No other word describes it. It has all the trappings and accoutrements. Everything is figured on the basis of tactics of strategy of proper maneuver, and effect on the general campaign.

Even the high explosives are there—er, rhetorical, perhaps, but still explosive.

The objective?

By the progressives, capture of control of the voting strength in the Republican party before midsummer of 1924.

By the democrats, who in this campaign are an allied and associate force with the progressives: Division of the Republican ranks in 1924.

By administration republicans: The maintenance of their control on the G. O. P. machine and its protection from being wrecked.

COLLINS SCORES NEWSPAPER GOSSIP

Use of Federal Troops and Bombing Machines To Get Mountain Refugees Called "Absurd."

By Associated Press.

LXINGTON, Dec. 14.—Sam Collins, State prohibition director, today branded as "newspaper gossip" published reports that Federal agents were assembling here for renewed efforts to capture Bob and Charles Ballard, wanted in connection with the killing of Prohibition Agent R. E. Duff and Posseman David Treadway in the mountains of Menifee county last Saturday and Sunday. He said also his office never called for troops because he feels Federal agents are capable of handling the situation in their own way at the proper time. He said also the "talk of bombing planes and 500 Federal troops to storm the mountains is so absurd it is a joke."

ENGLISH SEEK EASY DIVORCE

Mrs. Alice Rutherford Makes Long Futile Fight For Release From Insane and Murderous Husband.

By Milton Bronner

London, Dec. 10.—Divorce reform is the object of agitation in Great Britain as well as in America.

America would make divorce more difficult by means of Senator Jones' proposed 20th amendment. Britain would make divorce easier. For only one reason, however—insanity.

The long and futile fight of Mrs. Alice Rutherford to obtain release from a husband convicted of murder and confined in an asylum for the criminal insane, has given impetus to the movement.

Husband Slew Major

Nearly four years ago her husband, Colonel Norman Rutherford, an officer in the Royal Army Medical Corps, shot and killed Major Sefton, a cousin of Mrs. Rutherford. He was found guilty, but insane.

Britain's law does not allow a wife to divorce a man because he is a lunatic or a convict, as in most states in America.

So she sues for divorce on grounds of cruelty and misconduct with his cousin and the lower court granted the divorce.

Case Is Appealed.

But the woman in the case carried it to the court of appeal and was declared innocent and the divorce was rescinded. Mrs. Rutherford took the case to the House of Lords, and they found the other woman innocent and refused the divorce, although expressing sympathy for the wife.

Mrs. Rutherford has been called the most tragic woman in Britain. But there are others, also tied for life to murderers and lunatics.

The irony of it in Mrs. Rutherford's case is that in the past, among those who opposed reforms in the divorce laws, which might have helped her now, were members of her own rich and influential family.

CHARGE SHADOWING CONGRESS MEMBERS

Statement in Daugherty Impeachment Case Made and Denied—Council Calls "Impossible."

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Charges that operatives of the Department of Justice shadowed members of Congress who attacked Attorney General Daugherty were made and denied today before the House Judiciary Committee at the hearing on impeachment charges against Daugherty. The prosecution asserted that Senator Caraway and Representatives Woodruff and Johnson had been shadowed. The counsel for Daugherty said this was "impossible."

TAKE SCHOOLS OUT OF POLITICS URGED

Colvin Appeals to Superintendents in Opening Session Convention—Bradner Attends Meeting.

By Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Dec. 14.—George Colvin, State Superintendent, at the opening session of the county school superintendents' convention here today, appealed to the superintendents of the State "to take schools out of politics and place the new institutions where they are needed." He said new schools should not go to points to satisfy community pride or reward efforts of lobbyists, superintendents were urged to use their efforts toward enactment of a law permitting counties to float a bond issue for school improvement.

Supt. J. W. Bradner will leave tonight for Frankfort to attend the superintendents' convention.

A THOUGHT

And let none of you imagine, evil
in your hearts against his neighbor;
and love no false oath; for all these things do I hate, saith the Lord. —
Zechariah 8:17.

First one, that for the instructed time
will come

When they shall not meet no object
but may teach

Some acceptable lesson to their minds
Of human suffering or human joy.
For them shall all things speak of man.

—William Wordsworth.

WEALTH AND RESPECT FOR LAW.

To anyone who comes in contact with what are termed the American workers as distinguished from white collar business or professional men, it is manifest that the source of much of the anti-prohibition sentiment that prevails among the former is their resultant against what they say is one law for the rich and another for the poor. They know that in many regions of the United States it is possible for a rich man to get all the in-fatuations he wants, though, of course,
at exorbitant booting prices, while those who formerly consumed the milder kinds of alcoholic beverages are unable to buy them because their bulk makes concealment difficult. Whether they are wrong in their desire to continue the use of beverages that are quite generally recognized as distinctly harmful is not the issue. Their complaint is that the failure effectively to enforce the national prohibition law has operated so as to give the wealthier classes a preferment that should not and must not, exist under a democratic form of government.

Apart from the bad example set by those who in discussions of important public issues are often referred to as the better classes, there is the further question of the probable effects of the attitude taken by rich lawbreakers on the problem of law enforcement in general. When striking workers attack imported strikebreakers in the defense of what they think is their job
the rich, and the journals speaking for them, hasten to declare that law and order must be maintained, even though it is necessary to exert the full military powers of state and national governments. The result, of course, is always unjustifiable and deserves the severest condemnation.
But with what assurance can the head of great industries and the owners of vast wealth declaim against lawbreaking by the workers, when they themselves are flagrantly breaking the national law of the land?

ARE YOU A "YES-MAN"?

One of the best slang phrases ever invented is "yes-men."

A "yes-man" is a fellow who agrees with whatever is proposed, particularly when the proposal is made by his boss or any one else with whom he seeks to win favor.

Around newspaper offices, an editor
picks up the latest edition and comments: "Well, that's as good a paper
as we have had for some time, don't you think so?"

The "yes-men" instantly nod and chip their agreement.

Their idea, of course, is to flatter the editor's vanity. Then, too, by agreeing with whatever is suggested, the "yes-man" is relieved of what he dreads most of all—the agony of doing his own thinking, particularly reaching a personal decision along an original line of thought.

There's a "yes-man" in every office,
every factory, every social gathering,
every home.

You find them in politics—the voter who votes a straight ticket even though Satan happens to be one of the candidates, and the legislator who can always be counted on for an "aye"

when one of his political leaders tells him how to make up his mind.

The "yes-man" follows the line of least resistance. He is a mental loafer. So he rarely rises to the top.

The man with more chance of getting to the top is the "not-a-darnedsight-man." This type of aggressive has ideas of his own, personal convictions, and is willing to work for them.
Mentally lazy "yes-men" follow him
gladly, like sheep follow a leader.

Carried to extremes, the "not-a-darned-sight-man" is a bullhead. On general principles he is opposed to exactly everything suggested, often before he knows what is proposed. Like the shipwrecked sailor, who crawling out on the shore of a strange land was told "there's a government here." Instantly he said, "I'm again it."

Much evil is merely good carried to extremes.

Which are you—a "yes-man" or a
"not-a-darned-sight-man"? Answer this question and you know whether,
by nature, you are a tugboat doing the hauling or a barge being towed by the tug.

There's a third type that says, "I can't answer offhand, am not sure whether I like this thing or not. Let us go into it very carefully, consider it from all sides, make up our mind after due deliberation. Then, whatever we decide, we'll go after it hammer and tongs."

In the long run, this third type rules
the world and its people. For this third type represents conservative progressiveness—which obeys a law of nature by striking "a happy medium."

People saving for a rainy day find Christmas an actual cloudburst.

Eyeglasses are cheaper and now
you don't have to look over the top
so you won't have to wear them any.

Style hint: War graft suits are all the rage in Washington.

Some people remind us of auto tail beats because they only know when they have been.

If you know a little boy and a little girl give the girl something the boy will enjoy breaking.

Give tight shoes. They look fine
and feel fine off.

Dear Officer: I understand
How much you aid the motor traffic
I honor your uplifted hand
And all your signals, clear and graphic.

By no means do I hold you cheap;
Without you, traffic's always tangled.

I value much the way you keep Pedestrians from getting mangled.

But when I read your signals wrong,
As one will do on some occasion,
You needn't make your voice so very strong;

I can respond to mild persuasion.
If I am reckless, you may shout,
No doubt that carries more conviction;

But why so hoarsely bawl me out
For every minor dereliction?

I don't intend to break the law,
And if I do—you can arrest me.
But otherwise, why break your jaw?

Abusing me? If you will test me
With language moderate, though stern,
You'll find it really quite effective.
Yes, honestly, you needn't burn

My ears with purple-toned invective!

I try to do what you direct
I recognize your legal rightness.
And in return mayn't I expect
Perhaps a little more politeness?

RUSSIA'S PORTION AT LAUSANNE

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Harding Program Outlined

President Harding has let the country know he is aware it is dissatisfied.
Needless to say, it is the last election
he interprets this.

In an address at the opening of the regular December session of congress
he outlined a program which politicians describe as a platform, brought up to date from 1920.

Summarized, he recommends:
More aid to the farmers.
End of the Railroad Labor Board;
a labor division of the Interstate Commerce Commission, with power to make both sides obey.

Constitutional amendments stopping child labor and limiting tax free exemptions.

Stricter immigration laws.
Prohibition enforcement.

An effort to learn why, when prices receive are low, those consumers must pay often are very high.

Adoption of a plan to draft in time of need, all the country's resources for defense.

Further negotiations in the interests of international peace.

The president's message is taken generally as in the nature of an answer to the expressed views of the progressives who gained so much in congressional strength at the November election.

No Plan For Third Party

The progressives already in the senate have been giving the country some thing of an idea of the policies they will advocate when the new congress convenes in March. As yet they lack numbers to undertake making any of their plans effective, for this is still the old congress, with the republicans in an overwhelming majority. In the new one, however, they will have the deciding votes between the two big parties, and will be in a position to name terms to one, or the other, or both of the larger groups.

A convention of representatives of what is known as the labor progressive and liberal sentiment opened in Cleveland early in the week, but it was unofficially stated by leading men
at this gathering that it is not the idea to form a third party, which many people have been looking for.

New Irish Regime Launched

The Irish Free State has been formally launched, with Timothy O'Healy a lifelong fighter for home rule, as first governor-general.

But between those who accept this measure of freedom, which is about the same as Canada's, and those who demand complete independence, with the last tie to England severed, bitter strife still rages.

Several men high up in the Free State government have been assassinated by republicans.

In turn, a number of republican captives of the Free State have been court-martialed and shot, among them as notable men as Rory O'Connor, who was republican army commander.

These executions have led to fierce attacks on the government in the Dail Eireann, or Free State parliament.
Especially by the Labor movement who accuse Free State authorities of committing murder.

The feeling between these opposing groups of Irish is perhaps even deadlier than it ever has been between the Irish and England, and there is no prospect of peace at present.

Difficult Problem of The Straits

The map explains why Russia is so much interested in the Turkish Straits.

Every country needs an outlet to the sea—needs it the year round.

Big as she is, except when the weather's warm Russia has only one such outlet—and it is through these straits.
She has seaports enough, but they are all so far north that in winter they freeze up—like Cronstadt and Archangel and Vladivostok—all but the port of Odessa and others less important, on the Black Sea.

These always are open, but to get from the Black Sea, to the open ocean
the sole route is through the 2000 foot wide Bosphorus, the Sea of Marmora, the mile-wide Dardanelles and the Mediterranean.

That's the reason the Russians at the Lausanne conference are fighting so hard to prevent the straits from being placed under allied control.

If they are, Russia will be in the position of a man with a huge farm
he can visit or leave, about six months out of every year, through only one narrow lane—and that under control of somebody else.

It's the hardest problem the Lausanne conference has to solve.

Arenes Nobody, But—

In the Far East a notable event was the surrender by Japan to China
of the peninsula of Shantung, territory which was taken from the Chinese by Germany 24 years ago, in punishment for destruction of German life and property by the Boxers, and which the Japanese, in turn, wrested from Germany during the World War.

However, the transfer means that China must begin immediately to protect it against the bandits, of whom an army has been threatening to invade soon as the Japanese left.

The Peking administration adopted typical Oriental plans of hiring 1000
of the bandits to keep the others out and paid $100,000 to keep quiet for the present. They may do it or they may not.

Japan undertook to furnish arms
for the Chinese defenders of the threatened territory, but hasn't delivered them. The Chinese general in charge says he doesn't mean to accuse the Japanese of bad faith, but that reactions exist between them and the bandits, nevertheless.

Honduras suggests a big Pan-American League, but America seems to get enough panning without this.

Once you hear of people who had never seen a train; now you hear of children who have never seen a horse.

THE ONE-MAN WOMAN

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

But now she was going back —
back-Kate kept saying to herself.

When the first gray light finally came through the cracks between the window frame and shade, Kate Ward gathered her things and went to the dressing room.

She was eager! There was something of the girl about her eagerness.
It was a little after six when the train pulled into town. Palestine was beginning to awaken. Its folks who tilled the fields of Illinois corn had finished their harvesting and were taking it easy for a spell.

Fate Ward wanted to see the man whom she hoped would still be out in the little ram-washed house near the cemetery. She wanted his welcome before she touched the hands of any of the others. So, instead of going down the one main street, she took a by-way and skirted the town, making way with hasty steps toward the spot where she had hoped remained unchanged.

It was all so familiar! Almost it looked like the same goldenrod blooming in the fence corners and sounded like the same birds thrilling in the trees.

But 12 long years ago! Kate's heart beat faster! What if he would not be there? Why had she been silent all these years?

How could women care so much and then bury it in their hearts like some beautiful, fragrant flower that is hidden away in the forest depths!

It was cruel almost, cruel to themselves and cruel to the one they loved.
A half sob caught her breath and then died in her throat.

There it was! Just a little way up the road! She could see its loved outline through the trees which stood pro-tectingly about it. There was a thin line of smoke coming from the chimney! Someone was there!

She wanted to call aloud.

The gate was pushed open, the gate
she had swung on a million times. A shaggy head was thrust out. It was Monk. Monk, up to his old tricks, cautiously peeping up and down the street, seeking possibilities for his morning exercise, that of dashing along behind a cat, just far enough in the rear to escape her claws when she wheeled.

"Monk! Monk!" Kate's voice thrilled with excitement.

The airedale braced his body. His pointed ears stood straight. He looked questioningly at the woman. Suddenly he seemed to sense the thing.
He dropped with a flat thump on his paws. His stubby tail jerked. His large jaws were open. A second — Monk plunged.

With glad little shrieks of dog joy
he landed at the feet of Kate Ward.
"I knew you'd know — I knew you would know!" She was half laughing and half crying. The dog, full length was tugging at her arm, stretching his powerful brown throat and flashing his red tongue in the old way.

Presently he was on fours again.
With the hem of her suit between his teeth he trotted beside her toward the little house.

They were just at the gate when the door of the house opened. The man who stood there stared. He passed a hand over his eyes and then let it rest on the shock of white hair.

"Katie—Katie—and— I dreaming again this morning?" His voice was vibrant.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

"How do you do, Dr. Snuffles," she cried when she spied her little old friend.

Dr. Snuffles, the little fairy doctor, man of Whispering Forest, rang the Green Wizard's doorbell one day.

Nancy ran down the stairway on the inside of the big pine-tree where the wizard lived, and opened the door.

"How do you do, Dr. Snuffles," she cried when she spied her little old friend. "Come right in and walk upstairs, please. Mr. Wizard will be ever and ever so glad to see you."

When everybody had said how-do-you do and shaken hands all around and Nick had set a chair for the visitor, Dr. Snuffles told them why he had come.

"I want a little magical medicine,"
said he. "Or, I should say, a good bit of magical medicine."

"Why, what's wrong with yours?"
asked the Green Wizard in surprise.

"Oh, my medicine is all right, but it's the people," answered Dr. Snuffles gloomily. "When I get them cured of a cold they get rheumatism, and when I get them cured of that they get the chills, and when I fix all that, they get the shingles, next it's the lumbago, then dyspepsia and numps and earache and — well, somefolks just never get cured. I thought that maybe you knew of a magical medicine that would cure everything at once!" x x x x

"I see—I see!" declared the Green Wizard. "It's the same folks who keep sending for you over and over and you want to get them cured up for good and all?"

"That's just it," replied Dr. Snuffles. "You are a very understanding person."

"Nancy, bring me a bottle out of my cabinet," said the Green Wizard, and, "Nick, bring me that big pitcher
with the clear stuff in it."

Next the wizard filled the bottle out of the pitcher and then pasted on a big label which said, "Magical Medicine. Good For All That Ails You."

"There," he said. "That ought to fix them. But be sure to show your Dr. Snuffles took the bottle, thanked him and left.

Banquet for Climax Coal Company Men
One hundred fifteen men will banquet tomorrow night in the Red Men's Hall at Shannock as the guests of the Climax Coal Company. The feast is given them as the reward for having dug more than 4000 tons of coal by December 15. Mrs. R. E. Merino one of the best cooks in the camp will prepare the food. Edward Johnson of the Climax Coal company will have charge of the evening.

Those who will assist in serving are Mrs. L. W. Yearry, Mrs. W. E. Johns, and Mrs. J. F. Walker.
Mr. Johnson explained this morning that December is the slack month of the year for the number of tons of coal mined. Usually the men like to lay off near the Christmas holidays and the tonnage drops. He said the company offered to give the employees a banquet December 15 if at least 4000 tons had been put out. The average tonnage for the entire month is 5000 tons. This year it will reach 6000. The tonnage for other months is around 8000.

LIVE LOCAL LINES FROM LYNCH

LYNCH BREAKS WORLD RECORD

Leads 140 Gons, Total of 10,573 Tons of Coal Tuesday in Nine Hours.

LYNCH, Dec. 14.—Lynch broke the world's record Tuesday, December 5, by loading 194 railroad gondolas, making a total of 10,573 tons of coal in nine hours, the men working from 7 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. This feat is causing Lynch to boast that she is the greatest coal producer in the world.

Lynch is one of the most distinctive places in the world. It has been built up into a perfectly up-to-date town, the home of 8,000 persons, in an incredibly short time, almost over night. The model mining conditions have made it the center of attention for the whole industrial world, especially for those persons interested in seeing labor work out on such a scale. Now that it is made this new record at a time when car shortage and bad mining conditions are cramping the whole industry, it will be all the more before the public's eye.

R. B. Sowder from the Climax Coal Company is in Knoxville. He had an operation yesterday on his hand which had become infected. According to word received at the camp today the operation was very successful.

POOR FORK VOTES TO CHANGE NAME

Coalgate, Signifying Gateway of Coal Business, Is Name Finally Selected.

Special to The News.

Poor Fork, Dec. 14.—The Poor Fork Commercial Club met Monday night in the city hall together with the citizens. This was the time that a new name for our city was to be submitted. The house was full of men and women all eager to have a hand in the suggestion of a name. There were 25 or 30 names submitted but after elimination, due to the same name being already in the state, there remained eight names to be voted upon.

While the committee was eliminating the names that were already in use, Ira Fields, called on several to make speeches and Uncle Gid Hogg, responded with a very inspiring talk on the proposed new county. He said that all we lacked was going after it. His talk put pep into some and awoke the slumbering fire of indifference, so that a new county will be an assured fact before long. Joe Isaac responded to a speech on cooperation which was full of practical suggestions of what can be done if all put their shoulder to the wheel. The Rev. S. C. Rice, pastor of the Community M. E. church gave a very interesting and entertaining talk on a new name and the greatest thing in life. It was very much enjoyed as Rev. Rice is a forceful speaker. The chairman gave a short talk on suggestions that make our city a much better one. There is also on foot plans to install a water works here. An engineer will be here this week to look it over and submit plans.

At this point the committee submitted eight names. After voting and eliminating the two lowest at each vote, two names were left—Fairmont and Coalgate. The name of Fairmont was submitted by Ira Fields, meaning the fair mountains. E. Gibson submitted Coalgate and read a very beautiful letter explaining the reason and the meaning of the name Coalgate. This is the gateway for commerce and business in this section also the gateway for the coal deposits of coal on Clover Jack, Lynch, Benham and the upper Cumberland river and owing to the fact that Poor Fork would in all probability not be a coal mining town but a gateway through which it passed, he proposed Coalgate. After a vote Coalgate was selected the final name is now being passed and approved by the postal department and also be suitable for the railroad.

The road committee made a fine report on the progress of the road. Every day men may be seen ditching and teams working, hauling cinders. The roads will be kept in good shape. The citizens along main have all signified their willingness to pay for ditching along their property and the rest have placed their teams and wagons to fill with cinders. With such cooperation, this little town of Poor Fork or possibly Coalgate, will be a thriving progressive town.

Mrs. M. B. Whitcomb, Miss Guss Whitcomb and George Whitcomb, of Harlan ate a possum dinner with Mrs. Fred R. Whitcomb last week.

Mr. W. C. Potts, campaign manager of the Harlan Enterprise, was in our city this week giving final instructions and encouragement to the contestants

CLIMAX COAL COMPANY GET CAR LOAD TOYS FOR CAMP CHILDREN

Santa Claus' first special Christmas order to Middletown is 200 toys to the children at the Climax Mining Camp. The toys are now en route from Cincinnati.

Edward Johnson of the company, returned yesterday from Cincinnati where he was in conference with the grand old man of the North who makes little children happy. There are dolls and drums, balls, trains that run, horns and doll beds and many, many other toys coming here he says.

These will be given to the children at the annual Christmas program one week from tomorrow at the school house. Miss Nora Cox who is the teacher at the school will have charge of the program at the tree.

Mr. Johnson said this morning that it had been the custom each year for five years for the company to cooperate in having Santa send the children toys. The company pays about one-fifth of the expense. Besides the toys for is candy and nuts for each child.

This year there are about one hundred fifty children at Climax camp. They will have active parts in the program next Friday evening.

Edward Johnson of the Climax Coal Company returned to Middletown yesterday from Cincinnati where he has been for the past few days interviewing Santa Claus for the children at the Camp.

LOUSANNE FASHION SHOWS DOOMS THE FLAPPER TYPE GIRL

By Associated Press

Lausanne, Nov. 25.—Short hair and short skirts won little favor in the fashion conference which Paul Poiret, the Paris artist, conducted at the Grand Theatre for the fashionable crowds gathered in Lausanne for the Near Eastern conference.

Ten Parisian mannikins displayed more than 100 costumes before the exclusive audience, which registered its approval by loud applause, or was deadly silent when a mannikin moved across the stage in a costume which did not meet the fancy of the audience.

It soon became apparent that the girls counted more than the costumes. It was difficult for a short-haired girl to call forth much applause from the young diplomats who constituted a greater part of the male section of the audience.

There were mannikins with bobbed hair which was curled, and bobbed hair which was plastered down very straight. They were both blondes and brunettes with short hair, but they attracted little attention.

All eyes were on the girls with the long hair regardless of whether it was red, golden or black. They got all the applause. And the more modest and demure the mannikin, the greater her popularity with the spectators.

The snappy flopper was clearly in the discard, in the opinion of the international crowd gathered at Lausanne, and the willowy girl in extremely long skirts and with plainly dressed hair was in favor. The prime favorite among the mannikins was a gray-eyed little Quakeress, with her brown hair parted in the middle, and simply dressed. Her suits and gowns were all gray or blue, and whenever she appeared on the stage the applause was deafening, while the most flashy mannikins, walking with great affectation and dressed in conspicuous red and yellow gowns, were greeted with little enthusiasm.

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys

Eat less meat if you feel Back-achy or have Bladder trouble.

Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Big meat eaters can flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like they relieve the bowels, removing all the acids, waste and poison, else they may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad they have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

REV. C. L. NISBET
OF PINEVILLE CHIEF
KIWANIS SPEAKER"Jesus Christ, the Man," Subject of Inspiring Christmas Address—

Appreciation of Season's

Real Meaning Urged.

VOTE THIS YEAR'S OFFICERS
MAY BE ELECTED NEXT YEAR

"Jesus, the Man," was the subject of an inspiring Christmas talk given before the Kiwanis Club today by the Rev. C. L. Nisbet, pastor of the Pineville Presbyterian Church. Guy Glover was chairman of the day and A. P. Liebig drew the attendance prize. Forty-one persons were present.

"It is a good time at this season to stop and consider the Man, Jesus Christ," said Mr. Nisbet. "He is the person who is on the mind of every one more than any thing else at this time; it is because of Him that the Christmas atmosphere is so surcharged with charity and love, and it is the great fact and force of His coming that gripped men that first Christmas and that has held them ever since."

Showing how Jesus Christ had meant more than any thing else in the world, how he had stood out through the ages as the greatest prophet, philosopher, helper, refuge and savior, the speaker proceeded with his topic, picturing Christ, not the effeminate man of the mediaeval artists' fancy, but as a strong, virile and heroic man.

"The marvelous eloquence of the Man, Jesus Christ was His most outstanding power," declared Mr. Nisbet. "His early audiences would follow Him for days, fascinated by the wonder of the Man's words and delivery. The Sermon on the Mount, His greatest oration, has been the foundation of civilization and the primary moving power of men in this world ever since. While His matchless originality, His mode of thinking, His heroism and His statesmanship, all mark Him as the greatest Man that ever lived, "This world would be a dark and dismal place, with no hope, no salvation and no incentive to better things, if it were not for Christmas in the full and deep season." the speaker declared. "Because Christ has done so much for us, as a people, as a nation, a community and as individuals, we should be thoroughly grateful for Christmas and should observe it with a heartfelt appreciation of what it means, and not only as a season of jollity and hilarity."

In the introduction of his address the Rev. Nisbet also urged better relations between Pineville and Middlesboro and proposed that the spirit of competition which was so keen between them now be changed to one of cooperation. He said that the Kiwanis Clubs of the towns were the factors which could effect this change, and suggested that each club appoint a committee to supervise relations between the two cities.

The only important matter taken up by the club was voting to repeal the by-law of the club passed last year which held that no officer holding office last year could hold one this year. Under this ruling this year's officers and board of directors are eligible to office again.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS BASKETS

Commandant Cuthbert wishes to notify the public that the needy and worthy poor are looking to the Salvation Army for their annual Christmas baskets, as the Army was the first to distribute baskets in Middleboro. They cannot duplicate because they are in touch with all the needy cases in town.

We are sticking to Salvation Army work and that only. We are sure that, as a number of our cases are strictly confidential, we must have a good response to our Christmas Free Dinner Appeal. We have a great demand for children's clothing. We are also arranging for a big Christmas tree for the children and any one having cast off toys, please let us know so that if they need repairing we can attend to it.

If you have canned goods, preserves, etc. let us have them as soon as possible. Remember the Salvation Army is credited with being the greatest and most efficient organization in the world for charity. Send your donations early, and if you cannot send them, we will try to call for them.

KY. CONGRESSMEN TO HELP GREEKS

Woman's Club Get Letters From Senators Stanley and Ernst and Mr. Robison Pledging Help.

Three letters have been received by the secretary of the Woman's Club commending the pledging of the club's to help in liberating the Greeks from the rule of the Turk. The letters follow:

Mr. John M. Miller
Cor. Secy. Woman's Club
Middleboro, Kentucky.
My dear Mrs. Miller:

Your favor of recent date just to hand, in regard to the Near East situation, and I assure you that this matter and your suggestions touching it, shall receive the careful consideration which its importance deserves.

Very truly yours
A. O. Stanley
United States Senate

Committee on Interstate Commerce
Mrs. John M. Miller,
Secretary, Woman's Club,
Middleboro, Ky.

My dear Mrs. Miller:

I just received a communication from your club assuring us of your full support in any action necessary to effectuate the freedom of Armenia and in the liberation of the Greeks from the rule of the Turks. I wish to thank you for your suggestions. All of us deplore the unfortunate situation of the Armenians and the Greeks. Our nation is at a loss to know what to do to relieve this situation without involving our country in another European War. The world and especially our own country must not have another war.

The affairs of Asia and Europe appear to be so complex and interwoven that it makes it almost impossible to interfere in one matter without involving our country in the intrigues, jealousies and selfish aims of all the countries of Europe and Asia. I had hoped that France, England, Italy and other so-called Christian countries would unite and suppress for all time the unspeakable Turk but it appears that each of the European countries is playing its own selfish game.

I appreciate the kindly interest that you and your club are taking in this very important matter.

With very best wishes to you and the other members of your club, I remain

Sincerely yours
J. M. Robison
House of Representatives

Mrs. John M. Miller, Cor. Secy.
Woman's Club
Middleboro, Ky.

My dear Mrs. Miller:

Your favor of the 17th instant, just at hand, in reference to the protection of the Armenians.

I am in entire accord with you that our nation should do everything in its power to lend a helping hand to Armenia and I shall be glad to be of service in any way possible.

Yours very truly,
Richard P. Ernst

PRESBYTERIANS CONTRIBUTE FRUIT TO MOUNTAIN SCHOOL

Between fifty and sixty jars of fruit, jellies, preserves and canned goods, were brought to the Presbyterian Church yesterday as a Christmas gift to the students at Lynn Baebmann School for mountain boys and girls at Farmer, Tenn. This school is supported entirely by this presbytery and its funds have been so low that practically every teacher there has resigned because of lack of salary payment. Last year they had no fruit all winter and the women of the presbytery are trying to alleviate this condition somewhat this year. The box of fruit will not be packed until Saturday and any one who has not contributed is asked to bring their offering to the church at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Supt. C. P. Onwood of the Barbourville public schools, is here today consulting with Supt. J. W. Bradner and looking over the school organization here.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly. It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

REPORT OF RED ROSE TROOP GIVEN BEFORE WOMAN'S CLUB MONDAY

In behalf of the Red Rose Troop of Girl Scouts, I wish to thank Mrs. Hinks, personally, for the invitation to visit the meeting of the Woman's Club of Middleboro. This is the first invitation we have ever received from any organization of club in the city. We most heartily thank both Mrs. Hinks and the entire club for this invitation.

As the secretary of the Red Rose Troop, I should like to give you a brief summary of the work we have done since our organization, on April 18, 1922. We had as our captain, Mrs. W. C. Stair, as first lieutenant, Miss Henrietta Gordon, and as second lieutenant, Miss Margaret Davis, who still serve capably in this office.

There were nine girls enrolled, and two patrols. Several hikes were taken during the first few months of our career. The scouts of the Red Rose Troop have assisted on several occasions in entertainments for the benefit of the Carnegie public library.

At various sales during the summer the girls made a total of $62.90. This was used in purchasing troop equipment, among which was a handsome wooden troop flag.

We also went on several hikes during the summer, which were instructive as well as entertaining and pleasant.

In Friday, October 27, 1922, the Girls gave an entertainment entitled "Evening of Smiles." Much of the talent in the troop was effectively shown in this way. The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to $114.75.

At Thanksgiving, each patrol made up baskets of food for the poor. Each girl contributed liberally and the baskets were turned over to the Salvation Army.

It is our intention at Christmas to have each girl make an apron and bring a donation of candy, fruits or other articles to be taken to the County Home at Pineville. Any contribution will be welcome. Boxes will be placed in Shelburne's Drug Store and Ginsburg's Department Store, for any amount from one cent to fifty cents. We do not ask more than this because a "Girl Scout is thrifty". We feel that in making Christmas happy for others less fortunate, we are being inducted good girl scouts.

At present we have twenty-nine girls enrolled in good standing. Please do not think that the girls present constitute the entire troop. Unfortunately, some of the girls have not been able to purchase their official uniforms and so were unable to come to the meeting.

Again, I wish to thank Mrs. Hinks for the kind invitation, and, in closing to say that our workroom in the Coal and Iron Bank building will be open for public inspection from 3:30 to 4:30 from Tuesday to Friday afternoons.

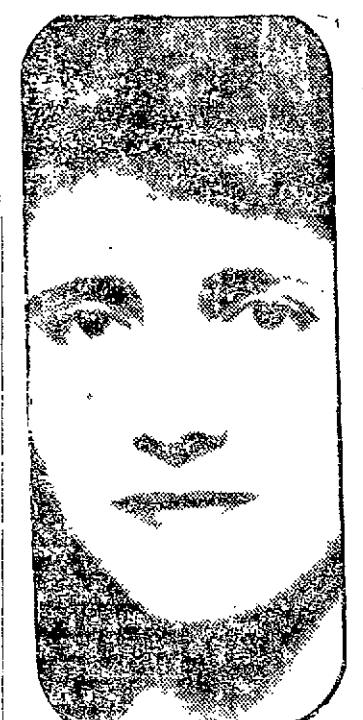

Elizabeth Chandler, Secretary.

SECRETARY FOR BURLEY GROWERS

State of Millions in Hands of Attractive Young Woman at Lexington, Ky.

Although Miss Carmel Hallmeyer is an exceedingly handsome young woman, it wasn't because of her good looks that the members of the Burley Tobacco Growers Association engaged her to look after the legal interests of their organization.

MISS CARMEL HALLMEYER

Miss Hallmeyer's solid professional attainments and brilliant record were the considerations which dictated the association's choice.

These tobacco growers, it should be explained, have a co-operative society which owns real estate alone worth $6,000,000 and its numerous and varied financial responsibilities represent sums vastly in excess of ever this amount.

Big Problems Involved
So, when a vacancy occurred at the head of the Burley Tobacco Association's legal department, it behooved the management to fill it only after the most thorough investigation into the qualifications of the individual of its choice.

Miss Hallmeyer got the post. She is a Californian, who, for several years, has been conducting the legal affairs of several of the huge marketing associations of that state specializing in this class of work fitted her admirably for just the position at the tobacco growers' disposal.

This explains the transfer of her field of activities from the golden west to Lexington, Ky., where the tobacco men's legal department maintains its headquarters.

Likes Gaiety, Too.

The oldest of a family of eight children, Miss Hallmeyer early shared with her elders the risks of making a home and caring for those younger than herself, yet found time to equip herself for the brilliant legal career upon which she is now so well embarked.

A breezy young person of the western type, she likes to dance and says the utmost vagaries of flapperdom do not disconcert her in the least, and yet there are few men as well qualified as she to argue knotty questions before the grave judges of a supreme court or to weigh problems of law upon the right solution of which sums of money running into the millions may depend.
